DETAILED ACTION

1. The title of the invention is objected to, as it is unclear how "Hunter" is descriptive thereof. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Henry et al. Henry et al. discloses the claimed invention, including a sleeve 30 having a tab 32 with an aperture formed therethrough.

Re "loop member", such fails to define any specific structure and/or arrangement so as to define over the first link of the chain.

Re "cap", such fails to define any specific structure and/or arrangement so as to define over either end 24 or 26.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1,2 and 5-7, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hysaw in view of Robinson.

Art Unit: 3617

Hysaw discloses the field of the invention, including a shank having a movable line connection, and a pair of parallel pivotable flukes. Hysaw fails to disclose a sleeve as claimed, nor a cap.

Robinson teaches the end of the shank being capped, as well as a sliding sleeve with tab having a hole therein for attachment to anchor chain.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to substitute a sleeve as that taught by Robinson for the slidable ring of Hysaw. Such slidable connections are considered to be equivalents, and therefore no motivation is required for substitution of one for the other.

It would further have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide an equivalent cap to the shank of Hysaw as taught by Robinson.

The materials of construction are considered an obvious design consideration, well within the level of skill of the ordinary routineer working in the art.

6. Claims 3 and 4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
